Reviews

An extremely wonderful pdf with lucid and perfect explanations. I could possibly comprehend every little thing out of this created e.pdf. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

WOMEN, WORK AND DOMESTIC VIRTUE IN UGANDA 1900-2003

James Currey. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Women, Work and Domestic Virtue in Uganda 1900-2003, Grace Bantebya Kyomuhendo, Marjorie Keniston McIntosh, This groundbreaking book by two leading scholars offers a complete historical picture of women and their work in Uganda, tracing developments from pre-colonial times to the present and into the future. Setting women's economic activities into a broader political, social, and cultural context, it provides the first general account of women's experiences amidst the changes that shaped the country. Prior to the 1970s, relatively few Ugandan women brought in their own income, despite producing most of the food and craftwork that was taken to local markets. Educational expansion in the 1950s and 1960s were years of gradual evolution for women and their work, with many employed as lower level teachers or nurses. Since the 1970s, there have been a number of dramatic changes which have led to many more women earning their own income: high mortality of men from conflict and HIV/AIDS, increased migration of women into urban areas, the collapse of the state-controlled economy and the emergence of a magendo economy, the development of a free market economy within a system of global capitalism, deepening poverty through Structural Adjustment Programmes, and the expansion of women's roles in many areas. This book traces the origins of the current situation, highlighting the challenges working women now face, and recommending strategies that will improve their circumstances in the future.
